

INFORMATION RELATING TO MINISTERIAL BLOGS

Ministers write their own blogs, often supported by information provided by officials. It is not possible to measure how much time is spent on writing blog entries each month as the number of blogs and the length of each blog vary.

The Blogging Platform was launched on 26 September 2007. As at the end of December, the costs for setting up, maintaining and updating the platform were £10,185.52, plus the salaries of the staff involved.
